Genre: Singer-Songwriter specializing in Anthemic-Pop, Folk & Jazz-Pop

Short Bio:

Marci Geller has been gracefully riding the balance between artist and songwriter since "Hair was big, and skirts were short." Her credentials include being named an "Editor's Choice" as one of the top songwriters twice by Independent Songwriter Magazine. She has performed on Live! with Regis, Good Day NY and CNN Worldbeat, and her music can be heard in soundtracks on ABC Family, MTV, VH-1, PBS, A&E, Discovery Channel, USA Network and others. She also toured for two years as the support act and backup vocalist for legendary guitarist Ritchie Blackmore's Folk-Renaissance band Blackmore'sNight, where she performed her stirring solo sets for 10,000+ people every night.

Having shared the stage with luminaries Christine Lavin, James Maddock, Vance Gilbert, both Maddock and Gilbert made guest appearances on her CD Open Book. Geller's album Square Peg features duets with renowned musicians Lori Lieberman and David Buskin. She was an Official Showcase Artist at the prestigious Sync Summit and Durango Songwriters Expo. Her song "Resist" was been chosen for the "Together As One" Project for Social Justice which sold out in two days after its release.

She has released seven full-length albums on Sonic Underground, the label she co-founded with Husband/Producer/Engineer Gianni DiMauro. She deftly combines elements of Jazz, Classical, Americana, Folk and Pop, and these days is hyper focused on producing music for Sync. She also recently signed with PitchPlay Music where she has been collaborating with an international team of musicians/producers to churn out Pop tracks for the Asian market.
